New York Feb 13th 1813

I received yours the same time since and have delayed answering it so long that I have given you, and my Sister, room to suppose I had forgot you, but I hope you will excuse my not having before expressed the lively and sincere pleasure my visit to Boston gave me, indeed I often wish it were in my power to appear among you for a short time and see if every thing goes in the same course, if Laura still retains her dislike to the paper in the drawing room if Mrs Perry is
