After waiting a week my Dear Brother in Hartford for some person to (mis)t me I thought it most advisable to take Oliver & slowly travel on — I hope it has not been displeasing to his father, you must offer my apology to him — I am watchful of him & I think is under as much restraint here as at home — as he had partly the promise of a visit in Boston from his father I thought it would be pleasing for me to take him there for a few days & I shall look for some acquaintance going on in the stage that would advise him at any time that he required it — he is so young I should feel anxious in sending him alone — on Friday we go to Boston — I shall give him money for his expenses
