Dear Sir

N York July 10 1827

I take the liberty to hand you the the little bill for services in relation to the Channing affair – it was not sooner sent owing to the unfortunate [illegible] presume prevented your earlier attention to the subject.

I should be extremely happy if my personal attendance is necessary to wait upon you again. – Independant of the claims of business – which it is my duty to follow up to your satisfaction – I should feel great pleasure in visiting your picturesque and delightful abode again – Be so good as to tender my respectful compliments to your Lady – to whose kindness and hospitality I feel not less indebted for being a stranger.

I am respectfully

Yr Mo Servant.

John D. Winslow

address –
at Isaac Osgood's
Water Street