this unpleasing complexion of the sales you have rendered, we have deferred making an adjustment of your account in our books, not doubting but you will give due attention to our remarks by rendering us compleat justice.