such a laughing Philosopher, as his namesake with you. I will bet upon Alfred, that he makes his way in the world and the same of his pretty sister Eliza, who is a charming "little Lady". —

We will send you some cheese, by one of the first wagons to New Haven. — Do you want any more flannel?

I have been disappointed in a quarters rent (about $200) of my House in New York, which is an inconvenient loss to me, as money is scarce with us Farmers. I shall proceed in my claim against our Bank and have no doubt, but little doubt, that I shall establish it. The Factory is doing a great deal of business, and is introducing the latest improvements, but the new investments consume the acquisitions and leave nothing for me. It becomes however more and more certain, that the establishments cannot be subverted and will finally succeed, in becoming a valuable Property. They are now placing water power looms, which an experiment are found to be cheaper & better than hand weaving, by which the Woolen manufacturers

with