respecting a measure of these documents; but as I find by certain movements, that much anxiety has been excited, in relation to old papers at present to preserve the whole: — In the aggregate, they form a strange medly of opinions, in which wisdom & folly, Papism, Prejudice, knowledge, & ignorance, are [illegible] — [illegible] or human life; and especially, the life of a person, engaged as I have almost constantly been, in important public concerns.
You will be pleased when I assure you, that I am not more disgusted with the part which I have performed, than I was when this labour was commenced, & that nothing can be disclosed by any one, which will occasion you to be ashamed of your connexion with me.
Give my love & best wishes to Mrs Hunter Eliza & Alfred & respects to Col. Gibbs & be assured of the unaltered affection of yrs

O. Wolcott
