design, to form, a general repository, of value to Scholars & antiquarians, and which if not retained in some private Library, ought to be deposited in some public, & permanent, institution.

During several of the last years, I have bestowed much time & attention in digesting & forming lists of those documents and of my private memorandums — my design from being complicated, from materials already in my possession. — The volumes which have been arranged, contain my hand writing on many of them, with manuscript notes. — I have ever considered most of them, as private & confidential documents, & I am willing to submit to a sufficient examination, by any men of honor, to verify the truth of these assertions.

I have a few Editions of Cobbett & valuable Books, which are my own & property; — to deprive me of the temporary use of these books, seems to me cruel, as well as unnecessary, unless especially before it is legally ascertained that this great sacrifice is necessary to secure the Interests of the Bank, as a monied institution.

I feel that I ought not to request any of my friends to involve themselves in the technicalities of the Law, to relieve my
