of the first moments of enjoyment - to calm settled for'd rational unchangeable affections - in short words are useless to express my satisfaction on this Point - and but for anxiety in Business a right to collect a Comfortable modicum - I should have no wish unsatisfied as to them of your friends who are dismiss'd - I have not yet gain'd admittance into my reformed Majesty's [illegible] competent to give you the clear'd information

I know of none that are married - and but one Doctor who is Miss Lords youngest Sister of my partners - she died of a Lung affection - Short illness - she was a worthy good girl universally esteemed my Partners Brother has been extremely ill - but is on the recovery - tho' it is too long a reply for the Lines when you will think more of me - you shall hear again from

Yr friend J. F. Barker
