James Gibbs appears also to have been addicted to a plurality of wives as I find him married in 1735 to Martha Liddris & in 1742 to the widow Mary Ingraham - ~~He appears~~ I am told he had a number of children - Hornsby mentions six, of whom Mrs Bush now living in Newport was one - another daughter married Robinson Potter - Perhaps the Moore's come of this stock.

A sister of George, John & James, Jane Gibbs, I think married James Fowler of Newport in 1727 - Have they any descendants

Another sister was named Ann - was she the one who married Simon Tilley in 1720.

Who was William Gibbs who was Church warden in 1709 - were there any other families of Gibbses in Newport.

The above will serve as a guide to enquiry. I should like to have the town grave yard & that of Trinity Church examined & copy made of any ~~one of~~ stone of the name of Gibbs & if there is any other yard of considerable size. I should like also to have an examination made of the records of the Friends meeting & if you think it worth while of any other church. Mr Howland is looking up the Town Records. If enquiry could be made of Mrs Brown, Mrs Bush &c it would be well. The memoranda should be as much in detail as poss
