to mention to Gabriel that I take a very warm interest in the prosperity of the society and that I will send me a few copies of their new volume. I will have them presented to the royal academy here and to other learned societies and will also see that I prefer mention is made of the Lyceum. I think I can ensure them the receipt of the transactions of these societies in return. I shall almost certainly go to Leipzig in October for the winter and while there I hope to me prefare a memoir on organic chemistry which will tell at home and be creditable to me. I may get into pleasant society there through the

them admission to Inorganic chemistry till I get home. I think I can easily finish my studies in another year and begin to be answering about getting work as soon as I arrive get home. Let me know when anything turns up. You know I have no objection to go anywhere except South. I am making up a small package of books to send home and will direct to care of Mr Schlesinger or to your office. Among them will be the dictionary which I use. I send also some tracts for Mrs Questin and several knickknacks I write to Wm by the next steamer so that you will hear of me in a fortnight after the receipt of this. I am surprised at his imprudence in inhaling Chlorine unnecessarily. I was obliged ... after it last week in making an analysis, but thanks to a ... Constitution I escaped with a bronchitis which left me in a few days undamaged. I am not much exposed to these things here as are analysts generally. I hope Affie will take part in your next letter and that he will come out well next month. I suppose he will have some furlough at any rate for my little of honors. I think he might also also take part in your next letter. By the bye by this time have a handsome Chromograph like his elder brothers. I hope he wears a round hat, coat and pants like other boys of his age, has his hair cut like a Christian and goes to school regularly. I have been obliged to finish this letter in the all speed to be in time for the mail as tomorrow is the last day of grace. I have lost much time recently in looking for a new room having quarrelled with my present landlord who is an unmitigated rogue - a genuine Israelite. I think I have found a tolerable one today. People of this stamp that is ... who let rooms are notoriously dishonest here. I can stand it however 3 months longer which is all that is necessary. The packages I rec'd cost me but 17 groschen or about my 37½ cents from the end of Mr Schlesinger sent them immediately to me. My books came
