and the greater part of our passengers who as Baier remarked were "lauter Berliner Philister" became presently exceedingly seasick notwithstanding the fineness of the water. The waves broke over our boat in very respectable style and breakfast innumerable went by the board.
I was not sick as I make would have it and enjoyed the trip much. Coll Pekesdale along the island of Rhodes for many miles passing Loseron and the Strekelberg where the peasants of those Attiche [illegible] I said. We reached Pillipo about 1 o'clock and got a good room at a clean inn. Pullipo is the seat of the [illegible] of Pullipo who has extensive estates on the islands.
It is a clean little village with white newly painted houses and much resembles one of our own country towns. There is here a very fine park belonging to the Prince and we spent the afternoon in walking about and enjoying the fresh air and fine views. The island of Rügen much resembles Rhodelake [illegible]

[illegible] found here his mother and sisters waiting for him and we received an invitation to join a family party at the house of one of his uncles on the next Thursday. This of course we accepted of course I was anxious to see something of German life in the country. Fortunately for us old fashioned primitive part of places like Rügen. Next morning (Wednesday) we set off to visit some of the principal places of interest on the island. We made our journey on foot and did some very good walking indeed considering that we were just from the laboratory. The most first of all to Mündert a portion of the island inhabited by a race somewhat different from the rest of the people here. They are like all the inhabitants of North Germany [illegible] and speak a kind of Platt deutsch. The Rügianpeasants are distinguished by a short dress and by a broader display of [illegible] of the low Germans. The men wear [illegible] and long stockings and long [illegible] the women a bodice loosely in front like some of the Swiss female costume and [illegible] and carry on their heads a sort of [illegible] almost exactly like a sugar loaf covered and [illegible] with a broad piece of fine lace. They are very shy of strangers but are [illegible] the finest and simplest manners and we were much pleased with them on every occasion together [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] a house where a large company was engaged in dancing [illegible] [illegible] a festival all over Germany - the first correspondent to our Whitsuntide. We waltzed [illegible] with great vigour [illegible] 4 o'clock in the day, the fiddler being [illegible]
