Mr Wheaton was held by his countrymen here and accordingly after all the other academicians had consented to sign the degree he very quietly declined signing and said that he must at least have time to reflect upon it. Next day he told Whitney and myself what had happened and left it to us to decide whether Wheaton should be Doctor or not! We told him that we had no ill will towards Mr Wheaton and that he must decide on the merits of the case to please himself. Finally seeing that we could not [illegible] Mr Wheaton as he was very strongly inclined not to sign. However at the next meeting of the Academy Clarke and very cunningly caused him quite complaisance and so Mr Wheaton is Doctor of Physics Causa. Did well! Think Clarke [illegible] manipulated. You must not however make it public yet as Mr Wheaton's account but [illegible] of the Academy. Charley Norton left [illegible] arrived this time and was very interesting. [illegible]

[illegible] Rogers [illegible] would gladly [illegible] connected with us. Jenga's book has also arrived as well as a photograph containing Gillmans Journal and letter [illegible] I have not yet had time to read the life. The book is well got up - paper and print are good but I cannot say that I much admire the portrait. It would have been better to have had the head engraved. I have begun working hard and am in tolerable condition [illegible] I am unfortunate to write you all this and beg of you please write to Mr Schlesinger to forward to my address all his and Long's letters and the [illegible] here. It is unlucky that the whole sum was not put to my credit in Berlin and when it becomes necessary to send me a remittance I hope Longs will send me a circular note on Baring & Co which can be cashed [illegible] my address written in connivance. This will not [illegible] I have [illegible] 620 Thalers in the hands of my bankers here, but I cannot draw again and [illegible] all my bills have been [illegible] The [illegible] should be as reasonable as possible. I hope even more [illegible] and that it will cost me [illegible] I have [illegible] Wheaton [illegible] Rogers [illegible] Clarke [illegible] be unemployed if not travelling. Travelling in the parts of Germany is cheap as well as [illegible] but I hope this is [illegible] case. I had hoped to have heard from Agassiz [illegible] but as you have only thought it worth while to write only I must follow suit. My expences have hitherto averaged 60 Thalers or $36.00 a month and therefore I hope [illegible] require anything [illegible] I shall of course let you know in time. George requires [illegible] Hope long for [illegible] This I am very glad to hear. I suppose he is exceedingly warlike [illegible]
