I wish you would locate all my old hats most respectfully to the Lieutenant and inform him that, 1st that he has been owing me a letter for a long time, and secondly that any letters are always addressed as much to him as to any body else, and that therefore he cannot grumble at my not writing to him. I am glad he has got into the rifles who I suppose will form a crack regiment. Remember me particularly to Charles Morris whose letter gave me much pleasure. What has become of Cairo has he delivered over body and soul to the Bedford family? I thought the Lyceum was to send me copies of their new number for distribution. I see nothing of them as yet. The newspapers now here are [illegible] I am in hopes to see off. The city is dull and smells abominably through the hot weather. One reason why your letter and leaves me alone in the laboratory [illegible] remains till October. I write to Hereford to day to engage a room in Jiepen and am pleased at being relieved in my plans and prospects for the winter. I publish nothing of my work in Rose's laboratory as [illegible] the use of isolated analyses which through very meticulous in themselves have [illegible] question with one another. I hope to undertake a course investigation with Liebig the results of which I will send you for Silliman. It is stated in the papers that the Mexican war has already cost us 100 millions if this be so we are not to blame exactly, how the money has been spent as it seems incredible that so much has been spent and so little done. Taylor seems to have been inactive since May last notwithstanding all the money. Folk must be getting jealous of Taylor's success - there is a person loose somewhere. I see that the tariff bill has passed at length the New Englanders here are furious and the Pennsylvanians. It is to be hoped will have reason to become so also. Give me the political news in full in your next. I hope that family will also write more regularly hereafter. In regard to the fine apple preserves if they are packed in a proper jar and the jar in a box and sent to the care of Schneider Buchhändler 28 den Linden they will reach me in time. I will write hereafter how to send to Jiepen. I will write again from Munich in October or sooner if practicable. Love to all I must close now as I have much to do

Yours truly W Abbott.
