good as they promise, they may not cut my successor wherever they please. You will already have heard that I procured bonds here without difficulty, but as the Comptroller desired that if any were executed in the States, they should be substituted, I shall forward the new ones when they come and let them take their choice. If they censure me they will [illegible] change. What I have done for [illegible] but whether he will interfere I don't know. I am very sorry to hear of Mrs Moore's accident and of the Mrs continued bad health. They have always been very good friends of mine & mine attentive in thinking of any debt to Mrs Linn home than any one else in California. I told you that I regretted that Schoolcraft had put my notes in such a shape, as they were too slight for it, and my opportunities of last summer enabled me to correct them materially. However it is now too late, but I am putting them into the form of a general view which I will forward when completed. Send me on the books when you get them, at any rate the one containing the notes by types, & the others when some opportunity occurs. I wrote to him to send me a few copies of the map. I trust that Renwick is destined to a speedy translation to glory if such can be the fate of a Professor in Columbia College the mental Castle of Indolence of a Knickerbocker progress. For heaven's sake start Francis out of that despicable
