all the principal charges would be stupidity and obstinacy. Every thing here indicates that Genet will be next President, with Jefferson or some such man for V. P. I dont think that Genet desires the place - it is in fact a loss of position to him, but it will be forced upon him. The republicans have no other man that they can centre on. Genet has certainly shown a degree of common sense since rising almost to genius.

As to 'Walrussia' which you speak about. I believe the President intends to send Gen Rousseau there as Commissioner to take possession, and if it is any probable time we must be could get the governorship if he wants it when a government is constituted there, but he will hardly resign his present position for that. Gen Stark of Connecticut - would never be confirmed by the Senate if he
