Exhibition well deserved but no awful to be received by any lover of his kind.

If McClellan has not matured and does not contemplate a forward movement, I shall never forgive him for having concentrated the last 60 000 about Washington. They would have done better service in Western Virginia Missouri or Kentucky. I hope he means to cut off Johnston in the North or compelling his retreat from West Virginia and push his advance to the Manassas Gap and through the Shenandoah valley sweep down on Lynchburg, Lexington and into Eastern Tennessee while Banks should Cross the Potomac at Harpers Ferry move to Winchester reunite with the advancing Column at Strasburg and either cooperate or pursue Lee thus effectually cut off from his Communications with the East and South East by these movements.

I have always had a hankering after Lynchburg and Selma N. Carolina the possession of which in my opinion would breed a famine in the Rebel army. This must be done rapidly for it gives Lee movements in the Mountains We are soon after. Faithfully Yours John Charles Fremont

Yes in any movements to Lynchburg – and movements in this direction – Keep well in mind the Kanawha line – Bear in mind that Lee will try to cut you off from the East
