Lewis would call upon her at the Belvoir house where they always stay. You can just mention to Philip in passing that you have once offered the Stuart to Congress but without success.

By the way you had better decide on the price you will take for them - I am afraid 10,000 is more than they will bring. You can consult Mr Clark about this here ever when he calls - He is more likely to effect a sale than any one I know, if he takes a likely to them - Goodnight dear sister I dont think the performance will come off and so I'll go to bed.
