but this doubt can only be solved by your sending on these Papers. — If they are not sufficient (but I would not express any doubt) you would have either in Boston or here to be appointed Guardian the difficulty, if any, is that the monies in question comes to the children not through their Father, but their Grandmother.

I did intend that you should state to your friends what I said in my last as to offering the Place at Auction — I the more readily came to the conclusion of which I informed you from the conversations had both with Miss Sarah Gibbs and Mr William Gibbs — and as the Question of putting the Place up at Auction is an important one I would ask their advice, if it is to be put up, it should be so advertised without unnecessary delay.

I notice what you
