could make it into dinner, much less staggered in the early day I returned to Fort Collins where I found an order to take command of Fort Collins. So I went to work to look at my post, and as ready as it is, nothing but the bare walls of the officers quarters, four sets of jacals for the men, no stables, no stockade, no shops no nothing. But I hope to be able to get the material and go to work and build up a handsome post this winter & early next spring, but I fear I shall not be able to take Peggy up with me, as the place is too bleak to live in a tent. After a week I was ordered down here on a General Court Martial where I expect to be till next year at least. I found Peggy and the children well, and of course glad to see me, I have a long letter from Frank The poor fellow has been very sick with intermittent fever ever since he got there, I am going to break up housekeeping there and come in Monday, about the beginning of the year, and give the exact detailed account of the Indian feeling there, and the rebellious nature of the sentiments of a majority of the people
