Between the two parts was read the "Abyssinian Times" a paper edited by Cousin Theo. It consisted of original articles contributed by the passengers, most of them being of a humorous character. We had dispatches from "Special Correspondents" all over the world. All the latest news from the Cinn. Convention, informing us of the nomination of George Washington Childs as the candidate for President. The reading of the paper created a great deal of fun. The manuscript was afterwards raffled, for the benefit of the Orphans, for fifty shillings. The proceeds of the concert amounted to £25.

Last Monday we got up a mock trial. There were posted up around the ship bills announcing the trial, as follows.

"Kingdom of Abyssinia.

The King } Court of Quarter Sessions, vs. } June 31st 1860. No. 93.
Mac Cowan }

By order of Brewster J. the above case will be called for trial in the saloon at 2 P.M. this Thursday
