THE QUEEN'S HOTEL.
GLASGOW

July 15th, 1880.

My Dear Mother —,

Your first letter was sent to me from London before I left Edinboro'. Our movements are so uncertain that I do not know when I shall hear from you again. Here we are at Glasgow. We arrived here last night after a short trip through the Scottish lakes. The trip was a delightful one, and although we did not visit all the lakes we saw the most beautiful ones, namely, Lochs Katrine and Lomond. Loch Katrine is the one that Scott talks about in his "Lady of the Lake."
Loch Lomond is the largest and unquestionably the most beautiful of all the Scotch lakes. We sailed the whole length of it (23 miles). The scenery is sublime.