mine, and I think very superior one for martial music. The instrument are all drawings of the trumpet, and trombones, or sackbut, among them. I pass along by you can distinguish an air, half a mile. They are uniformed in the most uniform of blue turned up with green. Do look very well in your manner, but only at best rather a Mexican appearance. You know that we are no longer allowed to wear thin summer clothes, even thin cloth. They parties and balls are about out, and as I have been writing this along at intervals in several days, perhaps there are repetitions and tautology, but never mind. Good bye Frank from your brother always Alfred.

Palmer and Co being here during some time and me on a visit and serve upon the band when the regiment goes to the Rockaway. It is a most excellent band, and is I think second only to the Queen's band. The instruments are all brass, and the tones are so well blended that they go perfectly among perfectly unconscious a musician, the air over their heads. The leader Mr Hatch plays on a brass clarionet, a new-metho
