Boston Harbor. 'So we came by the hand of God through the Deeps comfortably, having Preaching or Expounding of the Word of God every day, for ten weeks together, by our Ministers.'"

This colony first settled at Dorchester, and Henry Wolcott's name appears on the first list of freemen made in Boston, Oct. 19, 1630. In 1635 he removed with Mr. Wareham's Church to Windsor, in Connecticut, of which place he became "a chief corner stone." In 1637 he was elected a member of the lower house in the first General Assembly held in Connecticut. In 1640 his name stands first in the list of inhabitants in Windsor. In this same year he visited England. His younger children, Ann, Mary, and Simon, who had been left behind in England until a settlement should have been effected in this country, had probably joined the family in America before this date. It can only be ascertained that they came between the years 1631 and 1641. In 1643 he was elected a member of the House of Magistrates (the present Senate), and was annually re-elected during life. He died May 30, 1655. His will was dictated on the day of his death, and was proved Oct. 4. In the old cemetery of Windsor, over his grave and that of his wife, is an arched monument of brown stone, wrought by Matthew Griswold, who had married, Oct. 16, 1646, their daughter Anna, and was the ancestor of the two Governors Griswold. This monument bears the following inscriptions: —

"HERE UNDER LYETH THE BODY OF HENRY WOLCOT SOMETIMES A MAIESTRATE OF THIS JURISDICTION WHO DYED YE 30TH DAY OF MAY ANNO : SALUTIS 1655 : AETATIS 77.

"HERE UNDER LYETH THE BODY OF ELIZABETH WOLCOT WHO DYED YE 7TH DAY OF JULY ANNO : SALUTIS 1655. : AETATIS 73."
